

In today's reading God calls Eli, and Jesus, called his disciples.

God/Jesus/The Holy Spirit are all one and continue to call people all the time.

No that doesn't mean the telephone will ring and you'll get a call from God.

But God does call us in many ways:

Have you heard something your mom or dad said that you knew was important to listen to and would make things better? Like wear your mask and protect yourself and others. It may be your mom or dad who said it, yet God's right there with them talking to you!

Have you heard Fr. Bob or Fr. Joe ask you for prayers for others? They are friends of God sharing God's invitation to pray for the people and things that matter to you and need your prayers.

Have you been like John, in today's Gospel who hears Jesus and calls others to listen too? If you haven't can you think of a friend or family member who can encourage to listen to Jesus too, maybe come to Mass or watch it too?

During tough times like it's been since we found out about COVID 19 it's even more important to know, like Eli, that we can listen and talk with God. Eli was just a kid when God called him.

In the boxes below picture (or write the names of) 6 people who you want tell about God. In the other six boxes show or write about the things you want to with talk God about. I hope God doesn't have to call your name 4 times before you answer God's call
